

Figurative Language - Workbook 2

Focused practice - Workbook 2 of 3

How to use this workbook

Read each short text closely. Answer without checking the key. Then compare your reasoning with the explanation and mark the mistake type if you were wrong.

Before you start

- Underline or mentally mark the exact wording that controls your answer.
- Do not choose an option just because it is true in general; it must fit this text.
- After checking, write one sentence explaining why the strongest wrong answer fails.

Research Lab

The failed prototype became a map for the next design, showing the team exactly where the weak points were.

1. What does map mean figuratively?

- A. The prototype gave guidance for improvement.
- B. The prototype showed geographic roads.
- C. The team traveled to another city.
- D. The prototype was printed on paper.

2. What effect does the metaphor have?

- A. It reframes failure as useful information.
- B. It makes the lab sound smaller.
- C. It proves the design is complete.
- D. It removes the idea of learning.

Old Clock

In the quiet house, the hallway clock argued with the silence every second.

3. What does the phrase suggest?

- A. The ticking stood out sharply in the quiet.
- B. The clock had a conversation.
- C. The house was crowded.
- D. The clock stopped working.

4. What mood does the image help create?

- A. a tense awareness of the quiet
- B. a festive celebration
- C. a busy workplace
- D. a sunny outdoor scene

City Heat

At sunset, the concrete walls still held the day.

5. What does held the day mean?

- A. The walls retained heat from daylight.
- B. The walls prevented night from starting.
- C. The walls contained clocks.
- D. The building closed early.

6. Why use this phrase instead of remained warm?

- A. It creates a more vivid image of stored heat.
- B. It proves the walls are alive.
- C. It explains the wall material chemically.
- D. It changes the temperature measurement.

Answer key and reasoning

Research Lab

1. A. Like a map, the failure showed where to go next and what to fix.
2. A. The metaphor emphasizes that failure can guide later progress.

Old Clock

3. A. Argued personifies the ticking as an active interruption of silence.
4. A. The persistent clock against silence can make the stillness feel more intense.

City Heat

5. A. The phrase compresses the idea that the material retained heat after sunset.
6. A. The figurative phrase makes the lingering daytime heat easier to picture.

Mistake review

- If you chose a familiar meaning that did not fit the context, label it wrong sense.
- If you chose an option based on one word but ignored the rest of the passage, label it one-clue trap.
- If you understood the basic meaning but missed attitude or effect, label it effect missed.
- Redo the question later without looking at the key.
